

HEALTH CARE PANEL TO BE PART OF SIMMONS BANK DELTA CONFERENCE

The conference, titled “The Arkansas Delta: Why It Still Matters,” is designed to help government, business and civic leaders network with each other and discuss how communities can be managed in the face of a declining population base.

The conference will begin at 9 a.m. and conclude at 4 p.m. A catered lunch will be served at noon. There’s no registration fee, but those planning to attend are required to register in advance at www.simmonsfirst.com/delta.

Members of the health care panel will be:

- Dr. Becky Hall, the director of University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences East-Helena
- Bo Ryall, president and chief executive officer of the Arkansas Hospital Association
- Dr. David Lupo, chief of staff at Jefferson Regional Medical Center in Pine Bluff
- Billy Tarpley, executive director of the Arkansas State Dental Association
- Al Sliger, executive director of Mid-Delta Health Systems at Clarendon

There also will be panels on education, agriculture and economic development that will include state leaders in each of those areas.

Other speakers will include:

- Dr. John Kirk, the director of the University of Arkansas at Little Rock’s Institute on Race and Ethnicity and the school’s Donaghey Distinguished Professor of History. Kirk will speak on the history of race relations in the Arkansas Delta.
- Mike Preston, the executive director of the Arkansas Economic Development Commission, who will speak on economic development opportunities in the Delta.
- Dr. Greg Hamilton, a senior research economist, demographer and director of research at the Institute for Economic Advancement at UALR. Hamilton will speak on outmigration in the Delta.
